DINNERS
Laura Estan	Mardi Gras Feast	Tuesday, February 21, 6:30 p.m.	$30	8	Pets, not handicap accessible	The day before Ash Wednesday is known by many names: Mardi Gras, Carnival, Fat Tuesday, Shrove Tuesday, Paczki Day, Pancake Day. On this day, medieval Christians used up their eggs, butter, and milk--all of which were forbidden during Lent--by making pancakes and pastries. Join amateur chef and culinary professional Laura Estan at her Somerville home (near Tufts) to learn more about traditions from around the world and dine on traditional gourmet Mardi Gras delicacies as well as some Southern favorites. A variety of entrees, side dishes and sinfully delicious desserts will be offered. Celebratory dress is encouraged for the occasion and a door prize will be awarded for the "best" costume!
Lilia Cuervo and Sam Berliner	Columbian Dinner	Saturday, March 3	$30	6		Lilia will prepare an authentic Colombian dinner in her home in Medford. Menu is being decided but will include both vegetarian and non-vegetarian dishes. Following dinner, relax by the fireplace and enjoy good conversation!
Alice Heller and Larry Childs	What's Cooking?	Saturday, March 17, 6:00 pm	$30	10	Samson the Cat, not handicap accessible	Taste recipes from Breaking Bread , a portrait and recipe book by Lynn Anderson and photographer friend Robin Radin. They tell stories of recent immigrant families from in and around Boston through their kitchens. Michael Pollen says, ' Breaking Bread throws open a delightful window on the immigrant kitchen in America'. The book captures the truth about how real food connects us to our culture, our memories and to one another. Head over to Alice and Larry's home near Concord Avenue in Cambridge for delicious food and connections.
Jennifer Griffith and Kathleen Atfield	Earth Hour Dinner	Saturday, March 31, 7:00 pm	$30	6	Pets, not handicap accessible	Come enjoy a delicious vegetarian meal (complete with wine and dessert!) by candlelight at Jennifer Griffith's home in East Arlington in recognition of Earth Hour. Each year since 2007, the World Wildlife Federation (WWF) has organized Earth Hour on the last Saturday of March (www.earthhour.org). In 2011 hundreds of millions of people around the world, in thousands of cities, at hundreds of landmarks, in 135 countries on all seven continents, switched off their lights for one hour to display a universal commitment to protect the one thing that unites us all--the planet. Participate in Earth Hour and enjoy good company on March 31, 2012. This event is hosted by Jennifer Griffith and Kathleen Atfield.
Rashid Shaikh and Sharon deVos	Indian Dinner	Saturday, April 7, 7:00 pm	$30	8	Not handicap accessible	Come and enjoy some great Indian food at Rashid and Sharon's home in Inman Square. Ernie and Connie Kirwan	Dinner with the Kirwans	Thursday, April 12, 6:30 pm	$30	6	Pet free, not handicap accessible	Dinner starts with wine and cheese and then moves on to baked salmon and a casserole, salad and rolls, and finishes with coffee and dessert - and good conversation all along...
Mara Vorhees and Gerard Easter	Georgian Dinner (as in Georgia the country in the Caucasus, not Georgia the state)	Saturday April 21, 8:00 p.m.	$30	8	Cats, not handicap accessible	According to Georgian legend, God took a supper break while creating the world. He became so involved with his meal that he inadvertently tripped over the high peaks of the Caucasus, spilling his food onto the land below. The land blessed by Heaven's table scraps was Georgia. The cuisine of this fertile region shows glimpses of Mediterranean and Middle Eastern flavors. But the truly Georgian elements are what make this cuisine so delectable -- mainly the extensive use of walnuts and walnut oil and the characteristic mix of spices, known as khmeli-suneli . The region also produces excellent wines. Join Mara and Gerald for a dinner of eating, drinking, music and dancing -- Georgian style!
